

1. Customers in the Premium balance category have the highest subscription rate, indicating they should be prioritized in future campaigns.
2. The contact method influences campaign success, suggesting the bank should focus on the communication channel with the highest conversion rate.
3. Campaign performance varies over time, and certain months show higher subscription rates. Scheduling campaigns during peak periods may improve overall effectiveness.